Licence terms and conditions

By submitting a manuscript to the Acta Carpathica Occidentalis (ACO) journal for review, the author grants the Museum of the Moravian Wallachia region, c. o. and the Museum of South East Moravia in Zlín, c. o. a licence to use the contribution under the conditions specified below:

Statement of the author

The author declares that the manuscript is free from copyright or other legal defects. The manuscript is the author's original work and has not been previously published, including in another language. The manuscript has not been offered for publication elsewhere at the same time as it is offered to ACO. The only exceptions are platforms that allow pre-publication scholarly communication (e.g. ResearchGate, Academia).

- The author claims to be the real author of the submitted manuscript. Therefore, the author is not restricted in any way in granting the licence, and his or her freedom to grant the licence is not restricted or excluded in any way, i.e. the author is free to use the manuscript as he or she sees fit. The lead author also declares that all co-authors agree to the wording of these licence terms and to the latest submitted form of the manuscript.
- The manuscript is not subject to the employee work regime, its use under the licence used by the ACO journal is not restricted by the terms of any specific financial support (e.g. grant) or by the rights of any third party. If sources of financial support have been used in the preparation of the paper, these sources must be acknowledged in the paper. If third-party materials have been used, the author declares that he/she has obtained the necessary permissions before submitting the manuscript to the editors.
- The author agrees that if the manuscript is accepted for publication, a proposal for a licence agreement will be made on his/her behalf to an unspecified number of persons, the content of which will be determined by reference to the publicly available Creative Commons License CC BY-NC 4.0 International (full text available at: <https://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-nc/4.0/>); this proposal for a licence agreement will not be made for works or components (e.g. visual or photographic documentation) used by the author in the paper under a contractual licence with a third party.
- Should any of the author's statements prove to be false, the author is aware that he/she shall be liable for any damages incurred, including the costs of any legal proceedings and damages resulting from the violation of the reputation of the journal or Museum of the Moravian Wallachia region, c. o. and the Museum of South East Moravia in Zlín, c. o.

Granting of a licence

The author grants to the Museum of the Moravian Wallachia region, c. o. and the Museum of South East Moravia in Zlín, c. o. a free, non-exclusive licence, without quantitative or territorial limitation, for all known uses of the paper (in particular to reproduce, distribute and communicate it to the public), alone, in a set or in connection with other contributions or elements, regardless of the form or method of expression (including electronic form).

The licence is granted for the duration of the copyright on the paper.

The Museum of the Moravian Wallachia region, c. o. and the Museum of South East Moravia in Zlín, c. o. may grant the rights included in the licence to one or more third parties, in whole or in part, on the basis of a sublicense agreement, against payment or free of charge.

By granting a licence, the author consents to the inclusion of the paper in scholarly and bibliographic databases (e.g. EBSCO, CEEOL), and in information systems providing information services, in which the journal is currently included, as well as in those in which it will be included in the future.

The Museum of the Moravian Wallachia region, c. o. and the Museum of South East Moravia in Zlín, c. o. are not obliged to use the licence.

Further use of the paper

By virtue of the non-exclusive licence granted to the paper, the author is entitled to re-use the paper. However, for the purposes of such re-use, the author must acknowledge the journal as the source of the paper.

In the event that a manuscript is made available on standard pre-publication communication platforms, as defined in the document "STATEMENT OF THE AUTHOR(S)", the author undertakes to indicate the journal as the source of the manuscript without delay.

The further use of the paper must not be detrimental to the reputation of the Museum of the Moravian Wallachia region, c. o. and the Museum of South East Moravia in Zlín, c. o.

Others

Legal relations arising under the license shall be governed by the laws of the Czech Republic; any disputes arising in connection with the license shall be decided by the courts of the Czech Republic.

In the event that a manuscript is rejected for publication in a journal, the license granted at the time of such rejection will be limited to the extent necessary for the use of the manuscript in related editorial activities (e.g., peer review and archiving).

Open Access Statement

The ACO Journal is Open Access and is made available under the terms of the Creative Commons CC BY-NC 4.0 International Licence.

The author does not pay article processing charges and is not required to pay any other fees.

Creative Commons CC BY-NC 4.0 International license information

Publishing a paper under a Creative Commons CC BY-NC 4.0 International public domain license permits sharing, reproduction, and distribution in any medium or format. However, commercial use is prohibited. However, it is necessary to provide the relevant details (title, author, source of the original publication), a reference to the license and whether any changes have been made. This should be done in a reasonable manner, but not in a way that implies that the licensor endorses the personal or political views of the disseminator or the use made by the disseminator.

Legal or technological restrictions that limit other potential users are not allowed.

This license does not limit the statutory licenses, including the citation license. Quoting a section of a paper under these license terms does not require the quoter to make the paper available under the same license terms. If any parts of the content have been used under legal or third-party licenses, those parts cannot be used under the terms of the Creative Commons CC BY-NC 4.0 International license.

The terms of the Creative Commons CC BY-NC 4.0 International license do not waive copyright protection, claims arising from it, or the author's personal and proprietary rights

It is a must to abide by these terms – failure to do so constitutes copyright infringement.
